

What is a vision statement?

The vision statement should be a clear and inspiring description of what the subject aims to achieve in the future. It's like a guiding star—defining aspirations and setting a long-term direction. Think of it as answering the question: "Where do we want to go?" It's meant to be ambitious, motivating, and forward-thinking.

Guiding criteria:

- Makes clear what is unique to the subject
- Reflects the key drivers in the context of that subject
- Is focussed on the essence of the subject
- Future focussed

Vision statement

Workplace Practices will support students to develop agency over their own learning as they explore the various influences shaping the future world of work.

They will think critically about the current and emerging trends that are shaping the jobs of the future and the potential impact these will have on their employment choices. Students will explore and develop the core skills that will provide them with the flexibility to navigate this rapidly changing employment landscape.

By engaging in analysis and reflection on current trends and the skills they demand, students will make informed decisions about their futures and how they will contribute meaningfully to an evolving and dynamic world of work.

NB: as Subject Renewal Groups (SRGs) progress through the Subject Renewal process, plans and documents will be further refined and updated.
