Question 2 (20 marks)

Refer to page 5 of the information booklet when answering Question 2.
(a) Complete the receipts from debtors schedule for Magnificent Mocktails.

|  | Total sales | Cash sales | Credit sales | Cash collected  November-January |
| :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| August-October | 166000 |  |  |  |

(c) Beau has been thinking about replacing some of the equipment for Magnificent Mocktails, at an expected cost of approximately $$ 30000$.
Advise Beau on whether this should be done in January or at a different time, referring to the cash budget you prepared in part (b).
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
(d) Beau is also investigating the introduction of a new style of drink for summer, the 'Mint Fauxito'. Based on some research, he expects to sell 200 of these drinks for $$ 26$ each over the next 3 months. The cost to make each drink is $$ 7$ for the ingredients and $$ 5$ for the bottle. In addition, Beau would need to hire an extra mixing and bottling machine at a cost of $$ 1500$ for the 3-month period. He has told you that it would only be worthwhile producing the drink if it made a profit of $$ 1200$ for the period.

Advise Beau whether or not he should introduce this new drink, using the information provided to support your advice. Show your calculations.
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
$\qquad$
(e) In addition to completing a cash budget, Beau has also asked you to confirm that the $$ 2650$ debit figure in the cash at bank ledger is correct. He is concerned because his last bank statement, dated 31 October, showed a $$ 1580$ credit balance.

Beau is sure the ledger is up to date, but when reviewing the bank statement could not find the following items:

- $$ 2300$ cash received from a customer on 29 October (The money is still in the safe, as Beau has not had time to deposit it in the bank.)
- a cheque for $$ 500$ written out to pay for advertising in October
- a cheque for $$ 730$ to pay for some inventory purchased on 28 October.

Prepare a bank reconciliation statement, using the details above.

- Office wages of $$ 650$ had not been paid or recorded as at 30 June 2021.

Question 2

Beau Voss is the owner of a small drinks business, Magnificent Mocktails, which makes exclusive beverages for special events. Beau wants you to prepare a cash budget for the business for the 3 months from November 2021 to January 2022.

He has provided you with the following information:

- The November to January quarter is normally the busiest of the year. Sales for the remainder of the year are expected to be much lower. Expenses remain roughly the same year-round.
- For the August to October 2021 quarter, actual sales totalled $$ 166000$.
- Sales are expected to increase by $40 \%$ for the November 2021 to January 2022 quarter.
- Ten per cent of sales are cash sales. Of credit sales, $70 \%$ are collected in the quarter they are made, with the remainder collected in the following quarter.
- To try to improve sales, Beau will be running three special events in December at a cost of $6000 each. A deposit of $$ 1000$ for each event was paid in October, with the balance due in November.
- Purchases of inventory are equal to $55 \%$ of the expected sales for the November 2021 to January 2022 quarter, and are made in cash.
- Expenses for the November 2021 to January 2022 quarter are expected to be:
- electricity $$ 6000$
- shop rent $$ 12000$, of which $$ 2000$ will be accrued at the end of January. No amounts were accrued at the end of October
- advertising $$ 600$ in November, decreasing by 10\% each month
- wages $$ 15000$ per month
- depreciation $1240.
- The cash at bank ledger had a $$ 2650$ debit balance on 31 October 2021.

Question 3

SECTION 2

Questions 4 and 5

Lindsey Ords owns a small business called Lindsey's Vinyl Revival, dealing primarily with buying and selling second-hand compact discs and vinyl records. The business, which grew from their hobby, has been operating for 10 years. Although it has always generated a healthy cash flow, the business has experienced a sharp increase in vinyl sales in the past 2 years. At the same time, credit sales have increased significantly.

Lindsey has expanded the lines of inventory in the past 12 months. Lindsey's Vinyl Revival now sells new vinyl records, as well as record accessories such as cleaning kits and turntable needles. The business is in the suburbs on a main road leading into the city. Its renovated premises are in good condition, with sufficient space to display and store inventory as needed.

As a result of the increase in demand, Lindsey would like to purchase a computer system to catalogue and record all inventory movement electronically. After some research, they have found a system for $$ 8000$ that appears suitable.

Lindsey has provided financial statements from the past 2 years for you to advise on how to best purchase the computer inventory system. They believe the business has insufficient cash to make this purchase, because it must maintain a cash surplus to buy second-hand compact discs and vinyl records from customers.
